

TAVHealth ranked as one of the Best Places to Work

TAVHealth was recently ranked 7th by the San Antonio Business Journal's Best Places to Work. The process involved a third-party survey of employees as part of a thorough and rigorous selection process. The San Antonio Business Journal partners with Quantum Workplace to measure key areas that make up an organization's culture. These range from compensation and benefits to trust in senior leadership. The survey also measures the level of engagement exhibited by employees.

"I am proud to be part of an organization that values its employees and recognizes the hard work they put forth each day helping people improve lives. It's a privilege to be recognized as a one of the best places to work," remarked Jamo Rubin, MD - Founder and CEO of TAVHealth, "we work hard everyday to achieve our mission and to see that our team can deliver on this mission and appreciate where they work is a testament to our culture."

While headquartered in San Antonio, TAVHealth has grown to include an office in Austin, and team members in several markets around the country to service their rapidly growing partnerships. TAVHealth expects to continue its steady growth in 2017. San Antonio, recognized as a premier healthcare market, is one of the 10 largest cities in the US. Austin is one of the fastest growing cities in the country and now with the new Dell Medical School at University of Texas at Austin is well positioned to build on Texas' reputation as leaders in healthcare education, research and resources.
